

Tennis Club Organizes For Season.

Bill Ross was elected president of the Didsbury Tennis Club at the annual meeting held on Monday evening; Don Cameron elected vice-president, and Alf. Brusso Jr. secretary. The executive will appoint the different committees.

It was decided to put the courts in shape as soon as the weather is favorable and both courts will re-surfaced with red powered shale.

It is intended to hold a ladder competition throughout the season and also to enter competitions for the Rosebud Cup.

The fees were placed at: Men $5.00; ladies $2.50; students $1.00 with a special rate for novices of men $3.00 and ladies $1.50.

Graduating Class Visits Jersey Farm

Fifty boys of the graduating class of the Olds School of Agriculture visited Didsbury Jersey Farm, owned by N. S. Clarke, on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. F. Phillips, instructor of animal husbandry at the school, described the breeding and many good points of the Jersey cattle exhibited and commented on the splendid herd that had been built by Mr. Clarke.

Judging classes were held and the boys were shown over the barns. A description of the feeding and handling of the herd was given by Mr. Reid Clarke.

Mr. Frank Parkinson, manager of the Olds School Farm and Field Instructor, accompanied the boys on the visit.

Band Concert.

There was only a meagre attendance at the Band Concert given by the Didsbury Band on Wednesday evening last.

The band gave an excellent program and their playing would compare favorably with bands from much larger towns. Instrumental solos, given by Harold Gulliver (trumpet), Delmar Foote (mellophone) and Bob Robinson (clarinet) were well rendered and favorably received by the audience. Miss Evelyn Liesemer accompanied on the piano.

The program was augmented by visiting artists. The Fleming brothers, two young boys from Crossfield, gave a trumpet duet which delighted the audience and called for a well earned encore. The Burns trio (Marjorie, Kenneth and Douglas) on the clarinet, saxophone and piano gave a pleasing rendition of "My Wild Irish Rose."

The concert was well worth the patronage of the public and it is to be regretted that the boys did not receive better support.

For the dance which followed the concert, the hall was beautifully decorated with green and white streamers, and appropriate St. Patrick emblems. Those who attended declared it to be one of the most attractive dances of the season. The music was supplied by the Didsbury Orchestra.

Westerdale M.D. Organization Meeting

Reeve George Clark was re-elected to that office for the ensuing year at the organization meeting of the council of Westerdale municipality. Councillor Alex Hogg was elected as Deputy Reeve. C. E. Reiber was appointed Auditor, Peter Johnston Weed Inspector and Drs J. L. Clarke and A. H. Mann Health Officers.

Councillor and Mrs. Hogg were appointed representatives on the Didsbury Hospital Board, and Reeve Clark and Mrs. Davidson representatives on the Olds Hospital Board.

For the purpose of administering seed grain relief, Councillors Clarke, Levagood and Hogg were appointed to a committee to have charge of the south portion of the municipality while Reeve Clark and Councillors Brown and Bates will have charge of the north.

The Provincial and Dominion's scheme for introducing more grass so as to combat soil drifting was discussed at length. Under the scheme the government will supply limited quantities of grass and legume seed to farmers who wish to seed down a portion of their land. Councillor Clarke was appointed to work in conjunction with the weed inspector in putting the scheme into operation in the municipality.

The usual routine resolutions for financing and operating during the year were passed and other routine matters attended to.

Form Junior Wheat Club.

A junior wheat club for youths between the ages of 15 and 22 years was organized on Monday under the auspices of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Eighteen members have already been enrolled and enrolment will be held open until Mar. 31st, up to which time any youth may enter his name with Mr. Norman McLeod.

Officers elected were: Elwood Topley, president; Arthur St. Clair, vice-president, and Paul Hansen, secretary-treasurer.

Each member will be required to grow 4 acres of wheat from registered seed, which will be supplied by the government and the Alberta Pool. During the summer a field day will be held, when the fields will be inspected, and in the fall a seed fair will take place at which prizes will be awarded.

The operations of the club will be supervised by Mr. F. Parkinson, of the Olds School of Agriculture.

Items of Interest

The new issue of Canadian postage stamps bearing the portrait of King George VI, shows him full-face. The post office department has released a photograph of the 3-cent issue which, it said, would serve to illustrate the entire series. The red 3-cent, brown 2-cent and green 1-cent denominations will be issued on April 1st. The bi-cent, blue 5-cent and orange 8-cent denominations will probably be issued about May 12th, date of the coronation.

Climaxing its broadcasting of the brilliant and dramatic ceremonies attending the Coronation May 12th, the Columbia Broadcasting System will bring to the American and Canadian radio audiences the address of King George VI as he speaks to his subjects throughout the world. Announcement of the tentative arrangements for the broadcast was made recently by Columbia's London offices and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

The department of national defence spent on highway construction as a relief measure $45,378 in Alberta and $239,854 in B.C., according to a return table in the House of Commons in answer to J. A. Blanchette (Lib.), Compton. The return covered the year of 1936.

Fire Destroys Perrin Residence

The fire bell sounded at 6 o'clock Monday morning, when the alarm was sent in that fire had broken out in one of the A. A. Perrin houses on the highway in East Didsbury, occupied by Fred Aastrup.

By the time the fire equipment got to work, the blaze had got such a hold that it could not be checked, and the building was totally destroyed. Most of the furniture was removed from the lower floor, but nothing was saved from the upstairs. Fortunately there was little wind at the time of the outbreak and adjoining houses were not damaged.

The fire started in the vicinity of the stove, but Mr. Aastrup who was up at the time, could not determine the cause of the fire.

J. C. Bowen is New Lieut.-Governor

J. C. Bowen, Edmonton, has been appointed lieutenant governor of Alberta, to succeed the late Col. the Hon. P. C. H. Primrose, who died last Wednesday. Prime Minister Mackenzie King made the announcement on Monday.

The appointment made it possible for the provincial legislature to reconvene on Tuesday, an adjournment having been forced by the demise of Colonel Primrose.

Dave Wood packed his bags on Sunday night, tucked his Irish hospital sweepstakes ticket safely away and set out for Dublin to collect the $165,000 he won when Royal Mail captured the famous Grand National steeplechase. Wood sold the winning ticket to himself so, in addition to the $150,000 first prize, he will collect 10 per cent as the lucky salesman.

Another Boom Coming?

A warning against an impending boom must appeal somewhat in the category of an anomaly to Western Canadians at the moment, yet there are not lacking signs that what might ultimately prove a real disaster is in the making on the North American continent and more than one authority is predicting it and shaking an admonitory finger.

The attitude of admonition and warning is inspired by memories of the grand orgy of 1928 and 1929 and its reflex debacle when values were wiped out overnight followed by a protracted and painful passage through the valleys of depression.

Those who profess to see another boom in the offing, and some of them are eminent and authoritative economists and statisticians, are not fearful of an era of prosperity founded upon the properly co-ordinated functions of demand and supply, of the application of sound business principles to production and distribution of needed commodities, but what they fear, and possibly with reason, is a repetition of the wild and unfounded enthusiasm which led to a mad scramble to buy stocks at fictitious prices, to a boost in the prices of commodities beyond their real value and to an unparalleled orgy of speculation, all more or less based on the desire of the participants to reap where they had not sown and to "get something for nothing."

To this spirit which raged across the continent like an unbridled prairie fire must be attributed the boom which preceded the profound collapse of the autumn of 1929 and the severity and lengthy duration of the period of penitence and suffering which ensued.

The question which is agitating the minds of exponents of safe recovery based on sound business methods is whether or not the victims of the depression from which the people are only just now emerging have remembered and will heed the lessons which this season of trial should have taught them, or are they and their successors going to one more cast all discretion to the winds and again indulge in a riot of speculation and inflation leading to another depression which may be worse than ever?

Hoping for the best but fearing the worst, these authorities who are prophesying another boom and issuing stern warnings of the ultimate consequences should their fears be realized, are basing their conclusions on the fact that large sums of accumulated money are seeking an outlet, that raw materials and finished products are required in enormous quantities to replace the ravages of decay and obsolescence of the depression era and the superabundant optimism and forgetfulness of human nature which is so apt to make desire the parent of decision, to paraphrase a well known legend.

One of the authorities who fears the imminence of a period of over-expansion, followed by a depression so severe as perhaps "to shake civilization" is Roger W. Babson, well-known business statistician. In articles on the subject he points out that the business pendulum in the United States has swung back to normal and outlines steps which the government of that country has taken in the hope of stemming the possibility of another business cataclysm, but questions whether the brakes will hold in the event of a runaway.

Mr. Babson appropriately points out that legislative and regulatory safeguards are of doubtful value if they run counter to the mob spirit and is pinning his hope to a spiritual revival as a safety valve and effective preventive. Undoubtedly he is right in his belief that such a revival would be far more effective than any man-made laws and control measures.

But no matter how neighbors across the line or residents of Eastern Canada might yield to the lures of an inflationary boom, no matter to what extent they may succumb to a temptation to "whoop it up" again, it appears incredible that citizens of Western Canada could so soon be induced to participate, let alone aid in promoting another speculative debauch. The wounds and sores left by the last one must be too fresh and tender for that.

No, it must be assumed that Western Canadians will be content enough to feel their feet once again firmly on the ground without trying to soar on precarious wings to dangerous heights, at least for some considerable time to come.

Inverted Stomach

Rare Operation Is Performed In A Montreal Hospital

A middle-aged woman was on the way to recovery in a Montreal hospital after an operation for one of the rarest cases of "upside-down stomach" in medical history.

Doctors said the 51-year-old spinster, whose name was withheld, seemed to be progressing favorably toward normal physical condition following the 2½ hour operation that restored her stomach to its right position and corrected the position of her heart, which had been pushed far over to the right side of her body.

What made the case an extreme rarity, hospital authorities said, was the fact that the inverted stomach apparently developed in an otherwise normal adult. Babies are sometimes born with upside-down stomachs, but the medical men declared the occurrence of such a condition in a healthy adult was "most unusual." There have been only 12 examples known to medical science.

The surgeon in charge said the stomach certainly had turned over in the last eight years, and most likely within the last year. Last August, the patient suffered a fall, and it was believed an outgrowth of that.

Fine, delicate furniture should not be kept near windows, radiators, or any place where sudden changes in humidity and temperature occur.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Ordered A Clean-Up

B.B.C. Starts Purge Following Flood Of Complaints

The British Broadcasting Corporation has ordered the greatest internal "clean-up" in its history.

Broadcasting House has been inundated with complaints from listeners offended by certain items in recent programs. Hence the "purge." Captain Cecil Graves, Controller of Programs, is to survey every department in this campaign to "keep the air clean." A "black book" of forbidden items has already been started.

"Broadcasting has no official censor because it has never needed one," one BBC official said. "We intend to maintain that reputation. Our responsibility lies in the fact that we take programs right to the domestic fireside where all members of the family are gathered."

Comedians' "lines" are to be submitted to the Light Entertainment Director four days before the broadcast, and two officials will scrutinize them. Plays which contain strong language are to be rigidly inspected.

Even talks will not escape the "clean-up." Protests have also been registered against realistic studio "effects."

Where doubt exists as to the propriety of any item, it will be referred for final decision to the Department Director concerned.

New Field Crops Valuable

With an average yield of 9.1 bushels at an average price of 87 cents, the 7,360,000 acres of Alberta farm land sown to wheat last year produced 67,000,000 bushels with a total return of $58,290,000. Comparative newcomers to Alberta's field crops, peas and beans topped everything in sight at an average of $1.50 a bushel.

Egyptian Mummies

Pharaohs Of Ancient Egypt May Be Returned To Original Tombs

The fate of the Pharaohs of ancient Egypt is being considered by the Egyptian Government and the shrivelled mummies of the kings, now in the Cairo Museum, may be returned to their tombs. Experts are unanimous that the climate of this city is too damp for mummies. Replacing the mummies in their original resting places in the famous Valley of the Kings is considered the happiest solution of the problem.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks puny. A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Film British Fleet

Manoeuvres Of The British Home And Mediterranean Fleets To Be Shown

For the first time manoeuvres of the British home and Mediterranean fleets are to be made the subject of a film which, it is understood, will eventually be released to the public.

The film will be essentially "documentary" in character, but will have a theme. This will concern the adventures of two boys who join the navy, from the moment they put on their uniforms until they find themselves under active service conditions, as shown in the manoeuvres.

The producer is Commander J. L. F. Hunt. He was the captain of the submarine in "Men Like These" and directed "White Ensign".

There are to be four cameras with the "Red" fleet and four with the "Blue" during the manoeuvres.

A Valuable Tablecloth

Has First Sketch Of London Tower Bridge On It

Has your tablecloth a sketch of the London Tower Bridge on it? If it has then send it to the City of London Corporation. When the plans for the bridge were being considered Sir Horace Jones, the city architect, sketched his idea on a blotting-pad. Later in the day he went to a banquet and elaborated the idea by sketching it on the tablecloth. The blotting-pad which bears the first sketch of Tower Bridge is now preserved in the Guildhall. The tablecloth, too, was preserved, though what has become of it is a mystery. Now the Corporation is looking for the tablecloth, which was used at a banquet in 1877.

Made Radio History

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek Broadcasts Address In Faultless English

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, China's "first lady", made radio history as the first Chinese woman to address a world-wide audience.

She spoke in faultless English from her home in commemoration of the third anniversary of China's "new life" movement—a plan she launched with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, her husband and China's political leader for a moral reawakening of the country.

China's "warlord era, with its attendant civil strife," she declared, "is nearing an end because public opinion opposes those who want to settle differences with the sword. National unity is here because the people demand it."

"For a decade Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek devoted himself to unifying scattered armed forces into a national army. Now he is seeking economic advancement."

She stated highways were the chief factor in the economic progress of China and said motor buses now were busy in every province.

Empire Defence

Says Each Dominion Should Realize Its Own Responsibilities

Each Dominion should realize its own imperial responsibilities, and the defence of an Empire scattered over the world should not devolve upon a small island, Leopold Amery, former Dominions Secretary, declared in a speech supporting the Government's defence program.

He said he refused to subscribe to the belief that rearmament meant war and declared it was a great mistake to regard the defence measures as directed against Germany. "When everyone else is putting their treasures into iron vessels can we afford continually to keep ours in brittle, earthenware jars?" he asked.

Makes Transport Safer

If Flying Conditions Over Air Routes Are Well Known

Ordinary prudence, to say nothing of the human element involved, would seem to dictate the suspension of air services over certain routes until more is known of conditions that are likely to militate against safe transport, and until airmen are better qualified to combat them with a substantial expectation of success. Certainly the continued growth of fatalities is destined to create a very grave feeling of uneasiness among the public at a time when there is a general desire that they should grow more and more "air-minded."—Montreal Star.

Reconstructed Bank Of England Is Said To Be Empire's Strongest Building

The reconstructed Bank of England—repository of the nation's gold—is being built to last 1,000 years. When completed, experts say it will be virtually impregnable and the strongest building in the Empire.

Work of rebuilding and strengthening the bank was begun in 1925. For years workmen have toiled underground. Now the upper part of the building is nearing completion.

A cracksmen would find his first obstacle after gaining entrance to the building would be penetration of a wall of solid concrete, 50 feet deep and eight feet thick, between him and the treasure in the vaults. He would find each concrete block "keyed" to its neighbor—a defense so strong that experts believe the bank's main vaults could withstand concentrated bomb attacks and an enormous charge of dynamite.

Beyond this wall—at the end of a dark and winding corridor studded with foot-traps which set alarm bells ringing—are double steel grilles with two-inch steel bars, then other doors of steel, each weighing 18 tons.

These, which open at a light touch—if you know the way—give direct access to the treasure house. But one step within the door brings armed detectives running to the scene.

Miles of alarm wires thread their way through underground passages of the bank, armed patrols are always on duty near the bullion rooms, new and secret devices are a constant trap for the unwary.

Invaders of the vaults could be trapped and drowned at the touch of a button, for thousands of gallons of water can be poured into strong-rooms as a two-fold protection against burglary and fire. This water-system is controlled from three points: from a secret point inside the bank, from Scotland Yard, and from the governor's house 10 miles outside the city.

So strong are the 50 vaults that it has been estimated 100 cracksmen would take a full year to penetrate them, even if there were no guards or alarms.

There are long horizontal slits high up in the outer walls of the building, from which machine-guns could dominate the surrounding streets if ever a siege were attempted.

A gallery runs around the top of this wall where patrols could keep watch in a time of emergency.

Barkless Dogs From Africa

Are Cat-Like In Appearance And Will Growl Gently

Barkless dogs—Basenjis from the heart of Central Africa—have been exhibited to London dog fanciers for the first time in any civilized land.

Great crowds assembled around Bongo and Bereke and their eight puppies at Cruft's annual dog show in Agricultural Hall, London, where 1,332 dogs, valued at $5,000,000, were exhibited. The Basenjis were the rarest breed there. They were brought from Africa by Miss Olivia Burns, who sold them at good prices and was rushing more by airplane.

Generations of dusky masters, who use them to chase game, taught them not to bark. Finally evolution stamped out their bark altogether, although they growl gently.

The Basenjis, hardly larger than a fox terrier, average about 22 pounds each in weight. Yet they chase lions and other ferocious game.

Cat-like in appearance, they wash their faces with their paws and arch their backs when angry. Carvings of similar dogs appear on the facades of Egyptian tombs.

Atlantic Air Liners

Rochester Firm Building 'Planes Of Almost Unbelievable Size

A short time ago we called attention to the "hush hush" bombers which the British government are constructing under the most secret conditions. That the commercial manufacturers are making enormous strides is illustrated by the news—which is no secret at all—that Short Brothers, of Rochester, who have made some of the largest planes in the world are building passenger air liners of almost unbelievable size and equipment for the coming Atlantic service.

These planes have a wing spread of about 100 yards and a length of 75 yards, nearly the size of a coastal passenger ship. They will carry from 80 to 100 people and will have a cruising speed of 250 miles per hour. By reducing the number of passengers and increasing fuel capacity they could fly half way around the world without refueling. There will be seats of the swivel chair type for passengers in the wings. Passengers will sleep in staterooms, there will be bath-tubs and a dance hall.

These are the kind of planes Britain will put in operation next year. Ten years from then it would be hard to prophesy what the planes of that day will be like. Probably they will be "Queen Marys" of the air carrying hundreds of passengers across the Atlantic, breakfasting at Montreal or New York and having evening dinner in London or anywhere else in Europe. St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Foolish Speculation

People Of Small Means Should Keep Out Of The Stock Market

A merchant told us the other day of a customer who had just informed him that he would not be paying his bill this month because the money was going into oil stock. From another quarter we heard of a lady who had offered to sell some property for a quarter its real value—to raise money for a flyer in the oil market. This, we think, is emphatically the sort of money that should not be used for speculation.

There are people such as the successful oil companies whose natural business it is to prospect for oil. There are funds such as the surplus savings of debt-free and prosperous citizens which should quite properly be available to finance such exploration. The tragedy of any boom is that it usually goes on long after the legitimate speculator has deemed the risk too great for him and got out.

The cannon-fodder of the stock market are the little people who are tempted to go on and on for the very human reason that it is so much easier and more exciting to gamble than to save. Calgary Herald.

Rocky Mountain Sheep

Car Startles Them Less Than A Man Walking

Rocky Mountain sheep are steadily decreasing in the Park, at Banff, and where formerly there were hundreds of them to be seen in the winter time, now there are but two groups in evidence. One herd is to be seen on the west road about three miles from Banff, and the other one ranges nearer town. There are seven sheep in this group and one strange fact noticed about these wild sheep is that they seem to be more afraid of a man on foot than they are of a car. At the first sign of a person approaching on foot they are off like a shot, down the mountain side and away up the west road on the gallop, generally taking to the middle of the road for faster travelling.

Aesop created the idea for the emblem on the American dime. The moral of many of his stories was "In union there is strength."

Belief That Dies Hard

Most People Think Moon Has Some Mysterious Power

Belief in the mysterious power of the moon over mankind dies hard. Many doctors claim that the effect of the moon's rays is considerable, though the matter has been very little investigated; certainly many beliefs about the moon are still held here and there, says a correspondent of the Daily Mail even in this hard-headed age.

Most people dislike seeing the new moon for the first time through a pane of glass; it is supposed to bring bad luck. On the other hand, it is considered lucky to have silver in your pocket when you see it, and money counted at the new moon. It is lucky to turn your money over in your pocket at the new moon.

Country folk in many parts of England still wait for the new moon before they plant certain seeds, believing that the plants will increase as the moon waxes, but will have little chance of growth if planted when the moon is on the wane.

In Devonshire you are likely to be warned against cutting your hair and nails unless the moon is past the full.

There has always been a strong belief among all peoples in the sympathetic connection between the waxing and waning of the moon and the growing and finishing of human affairs. In the Orkneys there is still strong preference among young people to marry when the moon is new, for the new moon is the symbol of all happy beginnings. Similarly, country people often wait to cut down their trees or scythe their grass until the full moon is past, and the proper lunar season for finishing things has begun.

Few people will sleep in the full light of the moon without a superstitious qualm, and even doctors will say that full moonlight can have curious physical effects on susceptible people. People still tell tales of sailors being found dead or blind from sleeping on deck on nights of full moon.

Few Can Manage It

About $4,000 Required Yearly To Outfit Well Dressed Man

The average man should spend $1,000 annually for clothes, and to be well dressed he should spend at least $4,000, Raymond Twyeffort told delegates to the convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America. To demonstrate what he termed a few of the "necessities" in the man's wardrobe, Twyeffort pointed to an exhibit including a green tuxedo coat and hat to match, an opera cape with scarlet satin lining, and a strawberry outing coat with red and black striped trousers.

Viewed from the stratosphere, according to fliers, this terrestrial sphere is a deep purple. You can scarcely blame Mother Earth these days if she develops symptoms of apoplexy.

Proper Conservation Of Health Will Assist In Adding To Expectancy Of Life

Change Is Advisable

Gardeners Should Rotate Position Of Vegetables For Best Results

A gardener needs a plan of his work just as much as does a house builder. If garden plans are kept from year to year it will enable the grower to keep track of the rotation of the vegetables. Notes made on the garden plan each year will also prove a source of reliable information when the new plans are made. In planning the 1937 garden it is well to change or rotate the position of the vegetables that were planted last year. This is desirable to prevent exhaustion of certain food elements from the soil and to check the spread of insects and diseases. A safe plan is to follow leaf crops such as lettuce with root crops like beets or carrots, or fruit crops such as beans, peppers and tomatoes.

If the garden is large it may be divided into equal parts, planting one half to some legume crop such as clover. Always plough the crop under before the plants become woody. Some growers sow the entire garden to rye every fall. It should be turned under the next spring before it reaches the first joint stage. A garden in which both rye and the legume crops are used regularly will soon be much improved in producing power.

Clever Talking Bird

Minah Entertains Thousands Of Visitors At London Show

In a corner of Dorland hall, Regent St., where the management of the Crystal Palace opened its 69th national show of cage birds, a bird with a yellow bill entertained thousands of visitors with its powers of speech.

"I'm a minah. What's your name?" it asked, in a well-marked Glasgow accent.

A woman replied, "Mae West." The minah threw back its head and indulged in a long and deep-throated chuckle. After a long pause it said: "Minah's not a bit happy. Give me an apple."

Then, recovering its good humor, it gave a good imitation of the laugh of the lonely Australian kookaburra, or laughing jackass, in the next cage.

It is claimed the minah, which is the property of A. Wilson of Glasgow, a fellow of the Zoological society, is the best talking bird in the world.

Rose Afghan Blocks Join in Two Ways

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Effective Crocheted in Three Colors

PATTERN 5757

Here's an afghan you'll really use—endlessly! The ever-popular rose design is always effective. It's crocheted of the simplest; just do a number of the 7½ inch blocks (they're all the same) then lay them side by side, to determine which of the joining arrangements you prefer. Either one is effective. If you use Germantown for this, you're assured a fluffy, soft afghan. In pattern 5757 you will find directions for making the afghan; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements, and color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

With adequate community organization and personal discipline devoted to the conservation of health, the fostering of fitness, the prevention of disease and the curing of illness, it is not too much to predict that some day the expectation of life at birth may be 70 years—man's allotted span—states an educational message prepared and released throughout Canada by the Health League of Canada.

Between a third and a half of the annual illness in Canada is preventable, the Health League asserts. Yet it is still with us.

The longevity of the people has increased in Canada as in other countries, the educational message reads. "We are becoming literally an older nation. This does not mean that our chances of living to 100 are much better. We are not living to more extreme old age than our fathers, but more of us are surviving the risks of death in infancy, childhood and young adult life. It is, then, the average length of life that has been extended.

The latest estimate for Canada (1931) places this average expectation of life at birth for men at 59½ years, and for women at 61½ years. This record compares fairly with that of other countries. The following most recent statistics for men and women combined are not strictly comparable because they do not correspond to the same years.

	Years
New Zealand (1931)	66½
Holland (1921-30)	nearly 63
Sweden (1926-30)	62
Denmark (1926-30)	nearly 62
Australia (1920-2)	61
United States (1933)	61
Germany (1924-6)	57
Italy (1930-2)	55
U.S.S.R. (European area 1926-27)	44
Japan (1921-5)	42

When contrasted with conditions in the sixteenth century in Geneva when the average length of life was 21 years, these figures suggest that there are some advantages of being born in the troubled 20th Century.

It will be readily seen that this average expectation of life at birth forms a most exact index of hygienic and social conditions. For example in England the average life expectancy in the past century has risen from 41 years (1836-54) to 59 years (1928). This rise is but the reflection of deaths prevented by the improved medical services, the new public health services, and the extended methods of social amelioration which have been developed during that 100 years.

The Canadian reports show a similar record of prolonged life. In Ontario, in 1885 the Provincial Board of Health had just been formed three years. A comparison between conditions then and after 50 years of organized public health effort is revealing. In Ontario Typhoid fever in 1885 caused 462 deaths, in 1935 there were 38 deaths. Diphtheria's 1885 death toll of 1,006 has been reduced to 33 in 1935. Tuberculosis of the lungs has been cut in more than half from 2,313 deaths in 1885 to 1,096 deaths in 1935. And these reductions were made while the provincial population doubled.

In Toronto in 1900, 880 babies died before they reached their first year. If they had been born in 1934 about 600 of them would have been saved, such has been the improvement in our infant care.

Such then are some of the "silent victories of public health," but the task is by no means over. Between ½ to ½ of the annual illness in Canada is preventable and yet still with us. Four great principles should guide us in its elimination:

1. Conserve health
2. Foster fitness
3. Prevent disease
4. Cure illness.

With adequate community organization and personal discipline devoted to these ends it is not too much to predict that some day the expectation of life at birth may be 70 years—man's allotted span. And the glory of this will not be in its length of years but in the fullness of a healthy life.

The World of Wheat.

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Director "Crop Testing Plan."

Improve quality! Keep down costs of production!

These should be the watchwords for Western Canadian farmers, for all who are their friends, and who are, therefore, keenly interested in the farmers' welfare.

Very definite and, it would seem, successful efforts are being made not only to maintain, but improve wheat quality; but how about reducing the costs of production? Unfortunately very little in this direction is being done, yet the reduction of costs is just as important as the improvement of quality.—Can costs be reduced, or at all events stopped from rising still further.

It will not be easy, but I for one believe it can be done, even though costs of production actually are now rising, as revealed by the Searle Index, which keeps account month by month of the costs of the things farmers buy.

More will be said in later articles about methods which might be adopted to reduce costs. In the meantime anything that will increase the yield per acre will definitely help. The use of Leytosan and Ceresan for treatment against smut and root diseases, also the use of fertilizer, which increases yield and brings about earlier maturity, are splendid ways of reducing costs of production.

Following factors have tended to raise price: Japan, Mexico and Greece purchase Argentine wheat -- Italy purchases still more Argentine and Rumanian wheat -- Germany and Great Britain continue to buy Argentine, Turkish, Australian, Indian, Yugo-Slavian and Canadian wheat -- Spain purchases wheat -- Inclement weather jeopardises crop prospects in India -- Grasshoppers causing concern in Australia -- French franc falling in value.

Following factors have tended to lower price: First official Indian rice estimate larger than year ago -- German bakers must put 7% cornmeal in all wheat bread -- Weather reasonable and present moisture supplies sufficient in Australia -- Supplies of Danubian wheat and rye still substantial, with navigation about to reopen -- India preparing to make substantial wheat exports.

"DIDSBURY"

From "What's In a Name?"
—Calgary Herald.

According to the Geographic Board of Canada, the town of Didsbury was named after Didsbury, Manchester, England, at the time the C. & E. line was built. Some say the name came from one Jack Didsbury, who was interested in the building of the C. & E. line, but it is not known in what capacity. Officials say they never heard of this man in Alberta and give credence to the first-mentioned source of the name. The railway went through and the town was named about 1894, just as the first pioneers settled in the district.

Burnside Notes

Visitors with Calgary relatives on Sunday were Mrs. Walter McCulloch and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bittner

Friday evening Fred Metz drove to Allingham for a visit with friends at that point.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mardon were hosts on Sunday to Captain and Mrs. Page and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ehret and family paid a visit to Torrington on Saturday night.

Mr. Fred Thompson is a visitor on business in the southern city for a few days.

Miss Sarah and Mr. Ben Dyck who were at Bergen for some time, have returned to their home here.

Recently an inmate of Didsbury Hospital, Mr. Sam McAllister has left that institution and is staying with Didsbury friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clarke had Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lyons as their Sunday visitors. During the past week Mrs. Alfie Thompson was the guest of Mrs. Clarke.

Mountain View Notes.

After an enforced absence of a few months, due to adverse conditions for travel, several members of the W.I. along with their friends, convened at the home of Mrs. Wm. Coates for their meeting on Thursday last. Mrs. Ed. Blain, president, took the chair. Correspondence was speedily dispatched. Arrangements were made for the sale of tickets for a quilt, and a quilting party will be held for the finishing of same. The draw will be made at a social evening April 1st in Community Hall. Concluding the business session, members were required to give helpful gardening hints as their answer to the roll call. Mrs. Max Woods had the topic for the afternoon, and her epistolary article on "Bee Keeping" aroused keen interest. Before dispersing, the meeting enjoyed a delightful tea served by the hostesses, Mesdames Coates and Clarke. Mrs. Ed. Blain will have the April meeting.

Social evening at the Community Hall on March 26th (Good Friday). Coburn Young Peoples Club invites everyone in the community and other districts to join them in an evening of entertainment and fun. As we go to press we learn that the above event has been postponed—Editor.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mr. Jack Haynes, old-timer of the district, who passed away in an Edmonton hospital on Friday and was buried at W. field, Alberta, on Monday. His brother, Mr. Isaiah Haynes, and Mr. W. McKay attended the funeral.

Friends of Mrs. Jack Hislop (nee Alice Pearson) are pleased to learn she is "homeward bound" after a short sojourn in Australia. Several are looking forward to a visit from her, especially some of her former pupils of the Rosebud School.

Messrs. John Wiebe, Jake Brown, Corney Neufeld, George Ebb and John Sawatzky are attending a Menomonic convention at Spring Ridge, Alberta.

Hall Board annual meeting and whist drive at Community Hall on Thursday evening, April 1st. Come everybody and have a good time.

Miss Doris Brown, former teacher at Mona, arrives in Calgary next week to write off two examinations in her quest for a B.A. Degree.

The Sunday School is presenting an Easter Program at the Hall on Sunday morning at 10:30.

Born, March 20th to Mr. and Mrs. H. Penner, a son.

IN MEMORIAM

REITZEL.—In loving memory of Edward G. Reitzel, who passed away March 22nd, 1935.
It is not the tears at the time that are shed,
That tell of the heart that is torn;
But the passionate tears in after years,
And the loneliness silently borne.
We miss him and mourn him in silence,
Unseen,
And live in the memory of joys that have been.
— Lovingly remembered by his Wife and Family.

Bergen Notes.

Edwin Clarke has gone to B.C. to work. His wife will not go until he is settled.

Miss M. Oberhaltzer, of Eidawold, will go to Airdrie for the Easter holidays if the roads are good.

Messrs. Jake Dyck, Dick Metz, Abe Neufeld and Jake Brown are a few of the Bergen visitors who have attended church services.

The latest fashion at Bergen is that of having the 'flu', or to be just getting over it. No one has died of it, but all seem to know they have had it.

Fred Evans seems to be getting along nicely with the Bergen School. His work gains nothing but good reports. He sprained his ankle, but is over it.

Wooden Money in the shape of lumber, mine props, wood and poles, seems to be accumulating near the stores at Bergen and Sundre. The credit seems to be negotiable—whether social or not.

Mr. Ben Dyck and Miss Sarah are attending the M.B.C. Conference in Didsbury. They have filled the vacancy caused by Brother Snyder's leaving and have won a place in the hearts of all who have heard them. Great things are expected of them in their future work.

Aunt Mary: "And what did daddy say when you told him you had won first prize for dictation?"

Bobby: "He said, 'Well, well, you're getting more like your mother every day.'"

Humble FoodWins Praise

Columnist Says "Fish and Chips" Could Absorb 60% of Canadian Fish.

Long associated as a dish for the masses in England, the humble "fish and chips" is apparently gaining recognition in Canada. At least one large restaurant chain in Toronto and Montreal make a feature of this dish and according to the caterer have struck a very responsive chord in the palates of their customers.

Recently a columnist in the British Fishing News predicted that fish and chip shops in this country if they were properly developed could absorb 60% of the fish landed, as they do in Great Britain. In the old country, he says, everyone in the business earns a good living, especially the fishermen who benefit by the vast markets created by this lively trade.

A few Canadian restaurant executives are of the opinion that the humble fish and chips has real possibilities. The chief handicap in the past, according to one executive, has been that no effort has been made to place this business on a quality basis. The merchandising of fish and chips has been largely confined to poorer districts and people have not been properly educated to think of fish and chips as the wholesome and savory food it is.

Were more restaurants to feature it and give it the "imprimatur" of quality, there might very well be a new habit created among Canadians and a substantial fillip given to the fish industry.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Great Britain will greatly augment her fire-fighting forces as a precaution against incendiary air attacks, the House of Commons was informed.

The British labor minister decided to appoint a parliamentary committee to study a plan for making paid vacations mandatory for all British salaried workers.

Captain James Mollison plans to fly films of King George VI's coronation in May from London to New York, in a plane to be built specially for him, it was reported in London.

Benito Mussolini, as minister of war, has ordered a test mobilization of more than 1,000,000 men within the next few months, an official communique announced.

Windsor, Ont., forwarded to Windsor, England, $256 toward erection of a memorial to King George V. in the English borough. More than 17,000 citizens contributed to the donation.

Assurance of peace is needed for a lasting revival of world trade, Sir George Paish, British economist and international affairs expert, said in an address before the Montreal Canadian club.

Stephen Salter, of Ryde, Isle of Wight, has bought a new pair of boots as he enters on his 102nd year. He walks near his home every day. Once he was builder of the university racing "eights" of Oxford.

Tearing down an old log house on his Brookdale farm near London, Ont., Russell Hardie found a coin minted just 100 years ago, a half penny bank token issued by the province of Lower Canada.

A general labor shortage in the United States during 1940 was regarded as "highly probable" by the national industrial conference board, provided business activity continues increasing at a rate equal to that maintained between 1933 and 1936.

Willing To Make Trip

Women Pilots Would Fly Coronation Films To America

A special trans-Atlantic airplane flight is being planned in order to hasten delivery to North American motion-picture theatres of Coronation films.

Negotiations are proceeding with Amy Mollison, Beryl Markham and other distinguished pilots, to undertake a flight to New York, according to Sir Gordon Craig, General manager of the company which has been granted exclusive rights to film the ceremonies on May 12 (British Movietone News).

Copies of the films will also be despatched to North America on the dirigible Hindenburg, scheduled to leave Frankfurt, Germany, late on the day of the Coronation. They will be flown to Frankfurt.

Mrs. Mollison and Mrs. Markham, both of whom have already conquered the North Atlantic by air, have indicated their willingness to attempt the flight, it was stated.

Canada will receive its copies of the films from New York by fast service.

The government of Northern Ireland has guaranteed $1,000,000 toward the cost of constructing and equipping the new aircraft factory at Belfast.

Unordered Merchandise

No Obligation On The Part Of Recipient To Return To Sender

Few persons have escaped the annoyance of receiving through the mails such articles as ties, socks, handkerchiefs and other merchandise which they have not ordered and had no intention of buying, but which they either pay for, go to the expense of returning or worry about. They need not do any of these things, according to the Toronto Better Business Bureau, which sends out a circular deploring the recrudescence of this "racket" and advising the public how it may be disposed of. It seems the names of the victims are taken from telephone directories and the trade is well organized. It evidently succeeds to a profitable extent, or it would not be persisted in.

Now here is the cheering information supplied by the Toronto Better Business Bureau. There is no obligation, it says, to buy the merchandise, neither need it be returned to the sender, even when a stamped addressed container is enclosed. "If a qualified representative of the company calls for payment or to take back the goods, the citizen is quite within his rights in demanding storage charges before turning the merchandise over to the agent," proceeds the statement. But the recipient of such goods is not entitled to appropriate them to his own use. He must, of course, "hold them for a reasonable length of time."

The co-operation of the public would soon put an end to the nuisance, which is so detrimental to legitimate business. It is an impertinence to force unwanted goods on an individual in this way and there is already so much literature of an importunate nature coming through the mails, that it is distressing to contemplate the growth of this movement by which an attempt is made to disrupt the business of the stores and the ordinary channels of trading. It can be immediately seen that the consequences of accepting such a method would be highly detrimental to the welfare of the community. Hamilton Spectator.

New Scientific Discoveries

Mass Production Of Shoes That Really Fit Is Promised

Elimination of staleness in bread, improvement of mass-production shoes that really fit and dental fillings that last, are among the new scientific discoveries described in the annual report of the department of scientific and industrial research in Britain.

The manner in which the quality of pork and bacon is linked with the growth and diet of pigs is also being studied. It has been found a rapid walk of a quarter of a mile makes the pigs' tissues more alkaline and this has been found of importance in dry salt curing.

Through a process of gas storage in an atmosphere containing oxygen and carbon dioxide, the luscious William pear, which remains in an eating-ripe condition only a few hours, can now be held in a marketable condition for weeks.

The Flour Millers' Research Association reports that what the housewife usually calls "staling" is due, as a rule, to poor keeping qualities of the bread. Investigations have shown bread made in the best possible way from the best flour will keep for 10 to 12 days.

She dresses for her work in a blue jersey and overalls. It is her task to start, stop and manoeuvre the ship. She also helps to pull in the nets. She admits that it is a hard life for a girl, but she much prefers it to housework.

Doctors Are Puzzled

Strange Case At Worthing, England, Is Something New

A ten-year-old boy, strong and healthy, walks daily to school at Worthing, England.

He is intelligent, able to read and write well.

And the moment he arrives at school he is unable to talk, read or write.

Doctors are puzzled. They have never before heard of such a case. For certain reasons the boy's name has been kept secret.

So interesting is his case that Worthing Town Council have made a grant of £150 to help in the search for a cure.

One theory is that early in his life the boy received a shock which is now responsible for this nervous disease.

An important point to remember is that it is not for want of trying that the child is unable when he arrives at school to talk, read, or write.

China Has Great Women

Thousands Listed Among Notables In Last Fifty Centuries

Chinese history is full of outstanding women, successive dynasties recording thousands of the sex notable in their various spheres, declares a pamphlet entitled "The Status of Women in China," published by the Council of International Affairs, and translated by Jen Tai, a research Fellow of the Council.

In 50 centuries, the pamphlet estimates, China has produced 100,000 women whose names still remain on the scroll of fame for their achievements. A great encyclopaedia of 1727 named more than 28,000 women, leaders "in the 14 categories of womanhood." The Tang Dynasty alone produced more than 800 women writers, the Ch'ing Dynasty more than 1,000.

To-day, Jen Tai asserts, Chinese women have undoubtedly scored an initial success in their effort to achieve equality with men. "The fact that many women have been able to serve the government and the society in various capacities with complete equality and freedom, bears ample testimony to this statement. Compared with women of other countries, it must be admitted that Chinese women are relatively inexperienced in the field of social activities. Time alone will bring about a changed status for the Chinese women. It will not be long before they will catch up with their sisters in the west."

Leading women, the translator finds, all agree it is necessary to retain portions of the old womanhood which are congenial to the modern spirit and conducive to the development of the new womanhood. "Indeed, fashions may change, vogues may rule out each other, but there is only one womanhood and that is to develop the woman along her natural inclinations and talents to her best advantage. While certain differences between man and woman, which are inherent in their nature or are wrought by environment, cannot be dismissed, emphasis should be placed on the equality of the sex as far as possible."

Gardening

Informal planting, say the experts, is the most suitable for the average flower garden. True, it is possible with very large grounds and skilled help to do something with straight, dignified rows and borders. But in the average case planting irregularly in clumps will produce the most pleasing effects. Such planting, too, will add an air of spaciousness, giving even tiny backyard gardens the appearance of much larger affairs.

Where at all possible there should be a bit of lawn in the foreground, with an irregularly shaped bed of flowers around the edges and, possibly, groups of shrubs at the corners. Screening of harsh, straight lines about the house and drives with clumps of flowers and shrubs and an occasional trailing vine over verandahs or garages will bring the whole thing together. It will give the home the appearance of being part of the landscape rather than some rigid affair sticking out of the earth.

Vegetables, on the other hand, should be planted in straight rows. But here, too, a little planning will help. There are a great many new varieties now available in Canada and by the liberal use of some of these new things, and by adopting the rule to make at least three sowings of each variety a week or ten days apart, production can be materially increased. The big advantage of the vegetable garden right at the door is freshness, but to get full value in this respect it is important to have a new supply coming along frequently. Therefore, the modern gardener instead of planting all his peas, lettuce or carrots on the same day, puts some in the first week and more a little later.

If present plans are carried out a new town to rise on the outskirts of Liverpool, England, will be free of smoke. It is to have 5,000 houses built at a cost of more than $5,000,000, and sites are to be left for three churches, a moving picture theatre, seven schools, two shopping centres, and a playground. It is proposed that the houses shall be electrically heated so that there will be no smoke to interfere with the air dome near at hand.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

The doctor smiled on her benignly. He had noticed her new wedding ring when she had stripped the gloves from her slender fingers.

"I had hoped you would come back . . . I have often wondered since what happened to you. However, judging by that"—he indicated her shining ring—"you evidently took what advice of mine you were able to get through your head. You've found your vital interest in life, it would appear; your saving interest."

Starr's head was in a whirl. She hardly dared to believe what her own ears heard, this wonder story that was coming so casually from the lips of the man she had so long believed had condemned her. She leaned forward, eyes pleading, her body tensed.

"You—you mean there's nothing the matter with me?" she asked through lips that quivered.

He smiled, and his shoulders shrugged carelessly. "Offhand, without any thorough examination, I would say that you are just about as normal as any young woman of your age. A little too thin, too pale, perhaps. Anaemic. Or it could be from worry. . . ." He bent over his desk, looking her straight in the eyes, as his capable fingers tapped on his desk in emphasis. "Young lady, I don't know much about Egyptian history. I know less of this particular superstition that has been playing hob with you. But I do know that the most potent factor of any superstition is the effect it has on the mind of its victim. When you believe a thing with all the strength that's in you, it's quite likely to come true. That's all there is to it, and in your case you were making it come true. Curse of Tut-Amen-Ra—bunk!"

Starr said, in a still small voice of one who was trying to reconcile a miracle: "But my father? John Lessing? They—"

"That man who died on the night the tomb was opened—Lessing, did you say his name was?—died of a tropical fever which must have been coming on for some time, and would no doubt have taken him anyway, curse or no curse. Your father was an elderly man, a scholar of sedentary habits who could not stand much strenuous outdoor life. Moreover he had delved into Egyptian lore so long that it was inevitable it would have its effect on him. Superstition and grief over the death of his friend preyed on his mind, until he became obsessed with the idea that he would be the next victim. He was the victim of his own terror. Something like that was happening to you, but you seem to have outgrown it to a great extent, if not entirely. Thank heaven for that!" He smiled again as he straightened up. "And see that you don't go on any more digging trips to Egypt. . . . Hmm, that country's as full of superstition this day as it was five thousand years ago. I've heard that they even believe in the prophecies of those sand diviners of theirs."

Starr smiled at him, her eyes reminiscent. "We saw one once," she told him. "My father did not believe him. 'I'll never forget what he told me afterward—'Love is the only true diviner. You'll know that when the time comes.' " Her voice dropped to a whisper, but there was joy in it. "I think I've discovered he was right."

Dr. Morgan nodded emphatically. "He was right, my dear young lady. . . . Quite right."

It took a long time for all that the doctor had said to Starr to sink into the dazed girl's brain. Then a sense of wild elation swept her like a magic flame. As the doctor explained it all to her, it seemed so simple, so natural. Yes, he was quite right about her, too. She had fled from his office like one possessed on that long-ago day, waiting to hear nothing more than: "You won't live another six months."

If only she had waited, and talked the matter over with him then! What pain and terror she would have been saved! But, on the other hand, if she had, the whole course of her life would have been different. She

How to EASE a COLD

TWO SIMPLE RULES

Instead of buying costly medicines for a cold, try the way almost any doctor you ask will approve as the modern way—"ASPIRIN."

The way you use it is this: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on, taken with a full glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions in package. If throat is sore, gargle with three "Aspirin" tablets in $\frac{1}{2}$ glass of water for almost instant relief. The "Aspirin" acts to fight fever, aches and pains of a cold and the cold itself. Relief comes quickly and you have wonderful comfort.

might never have met Michael!

She had worked out her own salvation, even though she had plumbed the depths of human suffering. She was free. Free to live, to love!

It was with that idea singing in her heart, a pæan of joy and gladness, that Starr, her cheeks tingling to a delicate flush, put another question to the doctor who had brought back life to her. He smiled again as he got up and went to the door. He opened it and said to the competent young woman in a nurse's uniform: "Please take Mrs. Fairbourne into the examination room, Miss Walker. I'll be with you presently."

It was a woman who felt as if she had been newly born into a world that was the epitome of joy and gladness who made her way through the busy city streets, headed for her own penthouse apartment. A woman with a golden glory racing through her veins. Her head was up proudly. Eyes and lips laughed their sheer joy into the face of the world that suddenly was a marvelously glad, happy place—all of it.

A miracle had happened. There might be those who would attempt to explain it away with prosaic words, but Starr Ellison Fairbourne knew that it was a miracle.

She was free! Free of the dread that for years had made life a nightmare. Free—and she was going to have a baby! Michael's child, and hers! She was going back to Michael.

It was all so joyous that not until she stood on the threshold of her home from which she had fled did she remember the circumstances of her leaving. She had only been thinking—how glad Michael would be to see her—how happy over the wonderful news she would bring him. Now she remembered. . . . Michael believed she had run away with Lance Marlowe. All during those days she had faced death alone in a somber New York rooming house he had believed that she was in Lance's arms.

Swift alarm cast a darkening shadow across her excitement. She should have made some arrangement to let him know the truth before he saw her. She should have written him of what she had really done, let him know of the curse of Tut-Amen-Ra and what it had so nearly done to her and to him. There was still to be explained those anonymous letters which had come. They were a greater mystery than ever, but somehow, they, too, could be explained, she felt sure.

The great problem facing her was: How would Michael receive her? Would he and she ever be able to find understanding again?

Using her own key, Starr silently entered the pent-house apartment. And at the sight which met her eyes the very spirit seemed to leave her. Too late!

Michael was standing there in the centre of the long, low living room with Stephanie Dale. Both of his hands gripped Stephanie's shoulders; his eyes burned intently into hers.

He was saying in a strange voice: "It was you all the time, Stephanie. How could I have been so blind?"

Starr's knees trembled weakly and the room blurred in odd dancing lights before her vision. She swayed, clutching at the tapestry curtain for support. Too late! Of course. It had been Stephanie all the time. His affair with Starr had been an emotional spree. A mad play-marriage which could never last. And in the few days of her absence he had come to realize it. He wanted Stephanie!

Starr knew there was but one thing left for her to do now. She must go away again quickly—and silently. And then in that moment, just before the tapestry curtain dropped over her still white face, Michael saw her. He cried her name incredulously: "Starr!"

In an instant all was confusion. Michael was at her side in two leaps. He picked her up and carried her inside the living room. His arms were holding her. He was kissing her on lips and hair and eyes, starved kisses, as though he would never have enough.

Somehow, in the excitement, Stephanie had slipped away. Starr caught just one glimpse of her flitting through the entry way before the outer door banged on her. Starr and her husband were alone. And Michael was saying:

"Stephanie has just confessed that she sent you those anonymous letters, darling. I made her come here to face me, to accuse her. I found one of them after you'd gone, and it wasn't hard, when I finally got down to thinking of it, to see Stephanie's fine Italian hand. . . . That came of a sudden, after I'd been trying to trace them for days. She wanted to break up our marriage, and she took a childish way of doing it, as childish as those scrawls of hers that looked like something Egyptian. She thought they would cover her up; that nobody would ever suspect her. I recognized them as tracing from a ring she sometimes wears. . . . But, Starr, why did you run away? Nobody takes any notice of senseless poison pen letters."

Of course they don't, unless they have known the deadly fear under which Starr Ellison had so long lived! Stephanie never guessed at the coincidence her letters raised. Oh, Starr was going to have so much to tell Michael, and how he would understand and pity her! How he would make it up to her! Much to tell, but a lifetime to tell it in. Starr sighed happily.

Oh, the worry in Michael's dear, white face now, though! Worry over her, the wife he loved! His voice raged on:

"I caught Lance's boat before he sailed. He swore he hadn't seen you, and I believed him. I've searched everywhere for you, Starr, my own dear!"

Starr felt the sense of ineffable peace which only Michael's arms could bring, stealing through her whole body again. She was cuddled close against his breast. His lips brushed her hair.

She murmured: "There is such a lot to explain, Michael. I don't know where to begin."

Michael said: "Don't start just yet. I just want to hold you here, and make sure that you are mine, that you're real, and won't slip away from me again if I shut my eyes." Then he said what a moment before had been in her own mind. "We have a lifetime ahead of us for explanations, sweetheart!"

A lifetime ahead! The glory of it! Before Starr's eyes passed an imaginary parade. A parade of dream children, who now could be real. Sturdy little men with clear gray eyes like Michael's. Little girls—like herself!

Little Helps For This Week

The kingdom of God is within you. Luke 17:21.

Lord, take this heart that I would give Forever to be all Thine own;
I to myself no more would live,
Come Lord, be Thou my King alone.

The work assigned to the individual soul is to have life in itself, to make its own sphere, whatever it is, sufficient for a reign of God within itself, thankful if with the place and companionship given to us we are permitted to build an earthly home of grace and goodness, a home like a temple. But if this should be denied us then we may be able to build a home where God shall reign for ourselves at least, that we shall not break with our wills, and whether joyful or struggling with perplexity we shall know His will is law and submission will ever spring from communion of spirit and loving trust.

Mystery In Numbers

Analysis Is Sometimes Interesting If One Knows How

So far, 1937 seems to have defied analysis. There is, indeed a concealed thirteen in it, and—for whatever it may forebode—the sum of the first half is equal to the sum of the second half. What is obviously more alarming is that it is divisible by 13, and so has not even the virginal merit of a prime number. But one never knows what mysteries lie behind apparently innocent numbers. Sir Gowland Hopkins said recently that physics was haunted by the number 137. And Professor G. H. Hardy tells of a visit he paid to an ailing mathematician, mentioning casually that the number of his taxi was 1729—"which seems to me rather a dull one." "On the contrary," was the reply, "it was a very interesting one: it is the smallest number expressible as a sum of cubes in two different ways."—London Observer.

Social Credit Notes.

Members of Didsbury S.C. Group
No. 1 held their last meeting on March 22nd at the home of Mrs.
J. Cummins. Following the reading of minutes, correspondence from Mr. Aberhart and Mr. Foster was dealt with. This comprised information on the licensing of trucks and vehicles.

A resolution was passed that the government should issue tickets to be given by the merchants to the consumers as a receipt for the 2% sales tax. A petition was signed, to be sent to the House of Commons, demanding that the Dominion government take over all industries such as nickel mines and the manufactories now in operation in Canada providing war material either in preparation for war or for export to other countries, thereby taking the profit out of war.

The Alberta Cooperative Consumers and Marketers' Association's proposal was thoroughly discussed, and the members approved of this as the first step towards the opening of channels for the flow of provincial credit.

Votes of confidence were accorded Mr. Aberhart and Mr. Foster. The members urged the government to put a definite plan of social credit into effect during the present session.

This group does not think it necessary to have a vote taken on June 1st, as all the votes of confidence received by Mr. Aberhart should show that the government supporters are entirely united in their determination to stand behind the premier to the last ditch.

Lunch was served and the meeting adjourned.

There are some dyes which will not bear the weather, but alter color presently; whereas others, because of certain elements in their composition, always hold their color. The graces of a true Christian hold out in all sorts of weather, in winter and summer, prosperity and adversity—when superficial counterfeit holiness will give out.
